DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 1-14, 37-40, 55, and 81-94 are pending.
2. A telephone call was made to Allan Ratner on 25 August 2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
3. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372. This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

I. Claims 1-14 and 37-40, drawn to a method of creating a database where telephone numbers are related to e-mail addresses, judging, upon receiving a telephone call from a user, whether or not the telephone number of the caller is registered, and carrying out a process according to the result of the judgment, classified in class 707/1+.

II. Claim 55, drawn to a system comprising a browser address providing information about a predetermined item as information to an information communication terminal via the Internet, classified in class 709/203.

III. Claims 81-94, drawn to a system where an information communication terminal makes a call to a predetermined telephone number, and information is distributed by e-mail to this terminal, classified in class 709/206.

4. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I does not require a system comprising a browser address providing information about a predetermined item as information to an information communication terminal via the Internet. The subcombination has separate utility such as a method of creating a database where telephone numbers are related to e-mail addresses, judging, upon receiving a telephone call from a user, whether or not the telephone number of the caller is registered, and carrying out a process according to the result of the judgment.

5. Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I does not require a system where an information communication terminal makes a call to a predetermined telephone number, and information is distributed by e-mail to this terminal. The subcombination has separate utility such as a method of creating a database where telephone numbers are related to e-mail addresses, judging, upon receiving a telephone call from a user, whether or not the telephone number of the caller is registered, and carrying out a process according to the result of the judgment.

6. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as providing a URL for viewing web pages on the Internet. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single group disclosed as described above for prosecution on the merits because each of the groups requires different searches in different classes and subclasses.

Art Unit: 2155

9. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
